

Hospital Resource Reallocation & Capacity Optimization

Executive Summary

Analyzed 12,000 patient encounters with average wait time of 98.0 minutes, bed occupancy of 79.8%, and ICU utilization of 27.6%.

| Priority | Area             | Recommendation                                                           | Impact                                                              |
|----------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|
| High     | ICU              | Move 5 nurses from Maternity to ICU during evening                       | Expected 10-12% wait-time reduction and improved patient care       |
| High     | ICU              | Create a flexible surge pool of 8 beds for ICU and adjacent              | Expected 6-8% improvement in bed availability                       |
| High     | Emergency        | Move 4 nurses from Maternity to Emergency during evening                 | Expected 10-15% end-of-day peak reduction and improved patient care |
| High     | Emergency        | Create a flexible surge pool of 8 beds for Emergency and adjacent        | Expected 6-12% improvement in bed availability                      |
| High     | General Medicine | Move 4 nurses from Maternity to General Medicine during evening          | Expected 10-15% weekend peak reduction and improved patient care    |
| High     | General Medicine | Create a flexible surge pool of 7 beds for General Medicine and adjacent | Expected 6-12% improvement in bed availability                      |